Integrated Office Solutions

my integrated office

Good communication drives integrated teamwork /This is Why you need Sharp at the heart of your business.

Share ideas and you share success /This is Why Sharp helps people to collaborate.

Now your colleagues can share ideas more easily by using their tablets, smartphones and laptops to connect wirelessly to a wide range of Sharp office equipment.

Multifunctional printers (MFPs), interactive whiteboards, touch screen monitors and large format LED displays can all come together in a highly accessible integrated network. What's more, the information that's being shared and discussed can be stored in the cloud, helping people to work together however they want, whenever they need, and wherever they are.

And because the ideas and information can flow more freely, you can react more effectively to new opportunities.

INTEGRATE YOUR MFP WITH OTHER OFFICE EQUIPMENT INCLUDING INTERACTIVE WHITEBOARDS AND TOUCH SCREEN MONITORS

Improving business agility

Imagine this: you've been shortlisted for a major contract - your biggest yet. You have just one week to respond. It's crucial that everyone works together to create a winning proposal.

Your Sales Manager creates an outline draft of a 30-page proposal. It's scanned from an MFP to the cloud, where other stakeholders - in the office, at home or on the road - can view and update it.

Even though your Head of Sales is travelling, she can access the proposal with her tablet, add her thoughts and save it back to the cloud. Anyone who has asked to be notified of changes will get an instant email alert.

Connecting teams

Meanwhile, other meetings are taking place. Your product specialists meet with Marketing to consider and discuss the plan, sharing content directly from their laptops, tablets and smartphones to a Sharp BIG PAD interactive whiteboard.

The team leader uses his laptop to highlight key sections of an Invitation to Tender, and a trusted supply partner - visiting for the day - is invited to contribute. Using a guest logon, the visiting team displays multimedia proposals on the whiteboard and an MFP to create hard copy handouts. Everything is wireless.

Business inspiration depends on true commercial insight /This is Why we make information more accessible.

Elsewhere, another team meets to discuss the supply chain. A variety of Office documents are shared via the BIG PAD and touch pens are used to make handwritten notes. The notes are added to the documents in a standard, easy to read font and everything is saved in the cloud.

A Sharp MFP, wirelessly installed in the meeting room earlier that morning, is used for scanning reference documents to the BIG PAD, while Sharpdesk Mobile software extends the MFP's printing and scanning functionality to every mobile device in the room.

In addition, Sharp's Touch Display Link 2.0 software is used to transfer content from the BIG PAD back to every wireless device in the room. Everything is connected; ideas and information flow effortlessly.

The power of touch

With the proposal fine-tuned by closely collaborating teams and individuals it can be presented with confidence.

Recognising the importance and complexity of the deal, you rent a conference room for the day, equipped with a Sharp 90" LED monitor driven by a Sharp 20" touch screen monitor that's been built into a lectern.

The technology lets you present graphics, photos, video and Office documents on a high resolution large format display, creating a powerful impression.

Growing to meet your needs

My Integrated Office gives every stakeholder instant access to all of the information they need. Location is no longer important. Teamwork is everything.

It's scalable, too. To start, you may simply want to connect tablets and mobile phones to the printing and scanning capabilities of your office MFP, or for sharing information on an interactive whiteboard. In time, you might want everything connected to everything else, enabling secure 24/7 access to whatever information your colleagues need to improve decision making and teamwork.

Start small or think big - it's your choice.
